Special Inspections Forum Discussion

The Structural Engineers Association of Maine (SEAM) will host a Special Inspections Forum Discussion on Tuesday, November 18, 2008. Curious how others are dealing with Chapter 17 of the International Building Code? Do you have questions about Special Inspections that you would like to discuss with other professionals in the construction field? This is your opportunity to discuss Special Inspections in a moderated forum. The forum will feature a panel of respondents who will discuss questions presented by the moderator in a “20 questions” style format. As the panel responds, anyone else is invited to add comment. Questions and comments from audience will also be discussed. The intent is to have an open, informal discussion on Special Inspections. The SEAM Board invites all professional in the construction industry to join in the discussion, including (but not limited to) engineers, testing personnel, owners, building code officials, contractors, fabricators and architects. If you are interested in participating on the panel, please contact a SEAM Board Member (www.seam.org/officers.html).
